

Skit #10: Lord's Prayer—6th & 7th Petitions

Dramatis Personae:

Jack

Bob

JACK: Bob, I need your help!

BOB: What's wrong?

JACK: I don't have my homework done, and class starts in 15 minutes!

BOB: Jack, I told you to do your homework instead of playing Zelda all night.

JACK: Yeah, I know, but it was calling to me, you know? I mean, here I am doing my math homework, and I keep thinking about not having enough time, then that gets me thinking about the game, so I figure I'll try to get just a little farther, like a break to clear my head! Before I know it, it's midnight! I tried getting back to the homework, but I was too tired to concentrate!

BOB: Maybe you should do your homework at the library or something so you can concentrate.

JACK: Yeah, you're right, but what about now? Now, I only have (looks at watch) 13 minutes!

BOB: Jack, you're not cheating off of me. That would just dig you deeper into the hole you've already dug for yourself. I'm going to class. You coming?

JACK: Yeah, I suppose.

(Exeunt)

(Enter BOB & JACK)

BOB: Jack, you are absolutely the most...I can't believe your...this is a good day for you, huh?

JACK: Oh, yeah. What are the chances of Mr. Euclid being gone today? Man, I'll take watching a movie on fractals over real class any day!

BOB: Yeah, well, Mr. Euclid will be back tomorrow, so you'd better get your homework done.

JACK: Yeah, I'll go right after wrestling's done. Ricky "The Dragon" Steamboat is challenging Jimmy "Superfly" Snooka for the championship belt!

BOB: Jack, tape it and wrestle with your math instead.

JACK: But I...Yeah, you're right. Hey, when I'm done, you want to come over & watch the match with me?

BOB: No way. My math is done. I'm going to go watch it now!