

Skit #4: Creation & Fall

Dramatis Personae:

Salesman

Ernie

(Enter Ernie, strolling slowly, whistling.)

ERNIE:           What a beautiful day! The sky is blue, the birds are singing, and We're going to Adventureland tomorrow! (Keeps strolling, whistling a happy tune)

(Enter Salesman. He's shifty and is looking around, obviously watching for the police.)

SALESMAN:    (To Ernie) Psst! Hey, kid! You wanna be really happy?

ERNIE:           (Looks around to see who Salesman is talking to.) Who, me? Well, actually, I already am really happy!

SALESMAN:    You might be happy, but would you like to be really, really happy?

ERNIE:           Um, look, it's a beautiful day, and tomorrow, I'm going to Adventureland!

SALESMAN:    Adventureland, huh? You got the tickets?

ERNIE:           (Nervous) Yeah. Why?

SALESMAN:    Because I'm going to make you a great deal! Adventureland is cool, but Six Flags is cooler!

ERNIE:           Six Flags? I've never been there!

SALESMAN:    Yeah, well I just happen to have extra tickets to Six Flags, if you'd like to trade!

ERNIE:           Well, I don't know. My dad gave me these tickets and told me to guard them.

SALESMAN:    Yeah, but he didn't know you'd be able to get tickets to Six Flags! Wouldn't that make you really, really happy?

ERNIE:           Yeah, you're right. Okay, here's my tickets. (Gives tickets to Salesman)

SALESMAN:    Great! And here's your tickets! (Gives other tickets to Ernie)

ERNIE:           (Looking at tickets) Hey! What are these?!

SALESMAN:    They're bus tickets! They'll get you downtown, and there's at least six flags on the buildings downtown!

(Salesman runs away, and Ernie runs after him, shouting.)