

Skit #4: Lord's Prayer—Introduction

Dramatis Personae:

Dad

Son

S: Dad, can Joey come to Disneyland with us?

D: No, we're going as a family. No friends.

S: But Dad, that's not fair! It's not Joey's fault that he wasn't born into this family!

D: Nice try, but membership has its benefits, you know.

S: But Dad, Joey doesn't have a dad to take him to cool places.

D: That must be rough. I feel bad for him, but I just can't afford to take him along. Disneyland's expensive, you know.

S: I know, but I really want him to be able to go. (Pause) Dad, how about this: I've been saving up my babysitting money for that new computer, and I have enough saved up to pay for Joey.

D: It'll take everything you have!

S: I know, but I really want him there with me. Can I pay for him?

D: Son, you have a deal.